Snapshot of Cargill Brands
It is a part of everything we do....

It is a company-wide commitment to apply our global knowledge and experience to help meet complex economic, environmental and social challenges wherever we do business.

Corporate Responsibility is integral to how we live our vision to be the global leader in nourishing people.
Contributing $62 million to support programs these strategic areas:

Nutrition and health – focusing on long-term solutions to hunger, access to basic health care and improving youth nutrition and wellness.

Environmental stewardship- investing in projects that protect and improve access to water, provide conservation education and promote sustainable agriculture practices.

Education– supporting programs that improve access to education for children that strengthen skills in science, engineering and technology.

Implementing local community engagement strategies through 327 employee-driven Cargill Cares Councils.

Public-Private Partnerships
Nourishing Community Partnerships:

We seek to:

• Partner with organizations where our involvement can make a distinctive contribution and create solutions

• Solve real and underlying problems rather than treat symptoms

• Support projects/programs that align with our business and community needs

• Engage our employees and leverage their expertise to strengthen partnerships

• Provide opportunities for collaboration

Partnerships can be a powerful force.

Southern U.S. Hunger Relief

Multiple Approaches. One Solution.

WHY we support:

- We believe that everyone should have access to safe, affordable and nutritious food. And we’re committed to using our knowledge and expertise in food and agriculture to help make that happen.

- As a food company, Cargill has an important role in fighting hunger in our communities around the world, including here in the South.

- Hunger is a complex problem that cannot be solved by one entity alone; public-private partnerships can be a powerful force.

- Our purpose is to be the global leader in nourishing people.

Partnerships can be a powerful force.
